

Jesus' lesson was that if we bury our talents, money or our personal special gifts, we will never be able to share them, or to grow in our own being.

